RED BANK DESIGN CENTER (RBDC) is a design library and showroom where designers can source materials, meet with clients, and build relationships with other trade professionals. RBDC offers a collaborative work environment to their member designers and subcontractors, making it a one-stop shop to tackle projects of any scale—big or small. RBDC is the manifestation of Amy Manor's vision to evolve the design industry, allowing it to thrive for years to come.

In 2020 Amy invented the General Designer (GD). Exclusive to RBDC, General Designers are experienced design professionals that specialize in working as the client's design advocate, communicating the needs of their lifestyle to the architect, general contractor and subcontractors while guiding clients through the terminology and procedures of the construction process.

Visit the RBDC showroom or website to learn more about their membership programs and design opportunities.
